Motivational Interviewing in Brain Injury Rehabilitation

What is the difference between the courses and which one is right for you?

Motivational Interviewing is effective, evidence based and deeply client centred approach aimed at helping people achieve positive behaviour change.

These courses are suitable for practitioners working in the brain injury field who would like to learn, consolidate and develop motivational interviewing and how it can be integrated into brain injury rehabilitation.

WE ALSO OFFER BESPOKE IN-HOUSE TRAINING. PLEASE CONTACT US FOR FURTHER INFORMATION.

Two Day

The two day introductory course covers much of the same content as the one day course. The additional time means that participants have much more time to observe, practise and gain feedback on their use of motivational interviewing throughout the course. The key to successful integration of MI into practice is through practise and feedback. The two day introductory course offers the participant an opportunity to attain a deeper understanding of MI through observing and practising interventions as they progress through the learning. Typical participants on a two day course are people who have had little or no training and would like to invest in a full two days of learning to help them begin to incorporate the approach into their practice. As in the one day course participants may have previously attended introductory MI training and would like the opportunity to refresh and/or consolidate their skills within a brain injury context.

Advanced

The Advancing the Practise course is aimed at individuals who have completed some introductory training and would like to build on their learning. There is a specific emphasis on the use of MI in action planning within a brain injury context. This is an area that is covered briefly in the one and two day introductory MI courses delivered by ABI Solutions. In addition there is a more general emphasis on skill building in MI and matching your approach to the client's readiness to change.

The next step - Coaching – ABI solution offers individual and small group coaching to individuals who would like to continue their learning and become more proficient in their use of MI in their work Please enquire if you would like further information.
